LEARNING FOR LIVING

. . . At McKinley High School

Winter decorates McKinley High School and a few students gather outside with friends. The building was erected in 1918 at a cost of $2,434,792. This year the final payment was made and the interest debt was alleviated. The school consists of four floors, over two hundred three gymnasiums, and a swimming pool. The addition of language and reading laboratories was new to the building this year.

Foreward

This year's "McKinleyite" staff chose as its theme "Learning for Living." We endeavored to portray the many ways students prepare themselves for living in our society.

Learning has a different meaning to every student that attends school. To some, it is a preparation for their continuance of an education in college. To others, learning may serve as a familiarization with the work in their chosen profession. Unfortunately, there are those who consider the years spent in school only the fulfillment of a mandatory requirement.

The lessons learned in school are taught in the classroom and out. The introductory section depicts knowledge to be gained in everyday experiences in school. Through the various clubs and organizations social etiquette is presented.

Athletics molds a well-rounded student with the advantages of good health and sportmanship. In the classroom, of course, learning in the true sense of the word is provided.

Learning to count came many years previous, but Bill Schubach, Carol Kaiser, Ted Scoville, and Cathy Sekely join in the fun of counting the monument steps.

The beauty of the park and pond captures a few sight-seers. Pat Van Horn, Don Seaman, Melanie Oliver, and Bob Minney take in the view.

Learning The Ways Of Socializing

The social life of a student is a big adjustment to make. During the high school years, many of us reach the age of dating privileges. We learn to have fun and to appreciate the company of others. The growth of friendships is a new encounter for everyone. A mere acquaintance in homeroom educates a student in the ways of socializing.

Students engage in the same activities as did the classes before them. Perhaps the places have changed, but the fun to be had remains the same. There are the school dances, games, walks in the park, and after-date snacks. Sometimes the companionship of one friend far surpasses the fun with the crowd; this is also socializing.

Unlike our elementary education, throughout these years we are confronted with many personalities and various backgrounds. We are learning now, to adjust to social situations which will be decisive in life.

Everyone remembers the fun-filled rides to and from the away games of the ball teams. Singing, joking, and laughter, too, went along for the ride.

Scenery and solitude add the setting for Tom Sirgo and Penny Grieff. They pause from their walk to contemplate the stillness of the surroundings.

Accepting Guidance From Many Sources

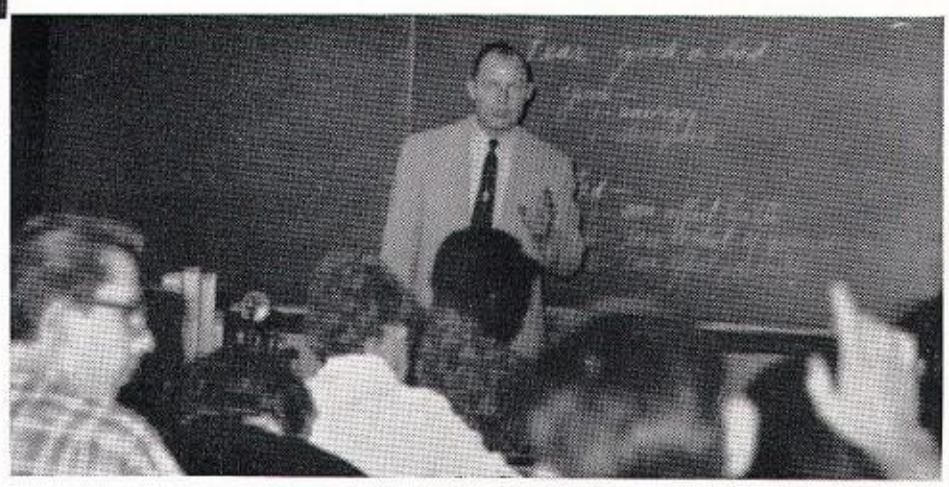
We learn to value the aid of those who are wiser and more informed. Kay Muir confers with her advisor.

A great part of knowledge gained is derived from guidance received from others. This guidance may be in wordly education or in spiritual improvement.

We are the recipients of the instruction and advice. It is to our benefit to put these well-directed aids into practice. Although instruction in school is supervised, the acceptance of advice remains voluntary.

Books are, of course, indispensable to learning, but interpretation is equally important. In hearing the opinions of others, we are made to think for ourselves.

Those in charge of guidance programs are eager to assist us if we are willing. The aid may be for present high school problems or those which lie ahead in future life.



The art of listening is a valuable one to acquire. Many classes are beneficial, not only for text studies, but also because of lectures and speakers.

We pause during the lunch prayer in thankfulness for the opportunity to learn and to live.

Faith is an enlightened form of learning. Barb Clulo, Joyce Clulo, Jerry Lang, and Jim Barbato seem to realize this as they view a Christmas Nativity scene.

Homeroom officers exercise leadership in a discussion period, as the president presides; the vce- president supervises the secretary's note-taking; and the treasurer records class dues.

The responsibility of handling money in the cafeteria is entrusted to mature students.

us as they receive their own learning. We become familiar with different customs and influences.

A report card can denote either achievement or failure. It establishes a recognized standard of achievement.

Excelling Through Maturity

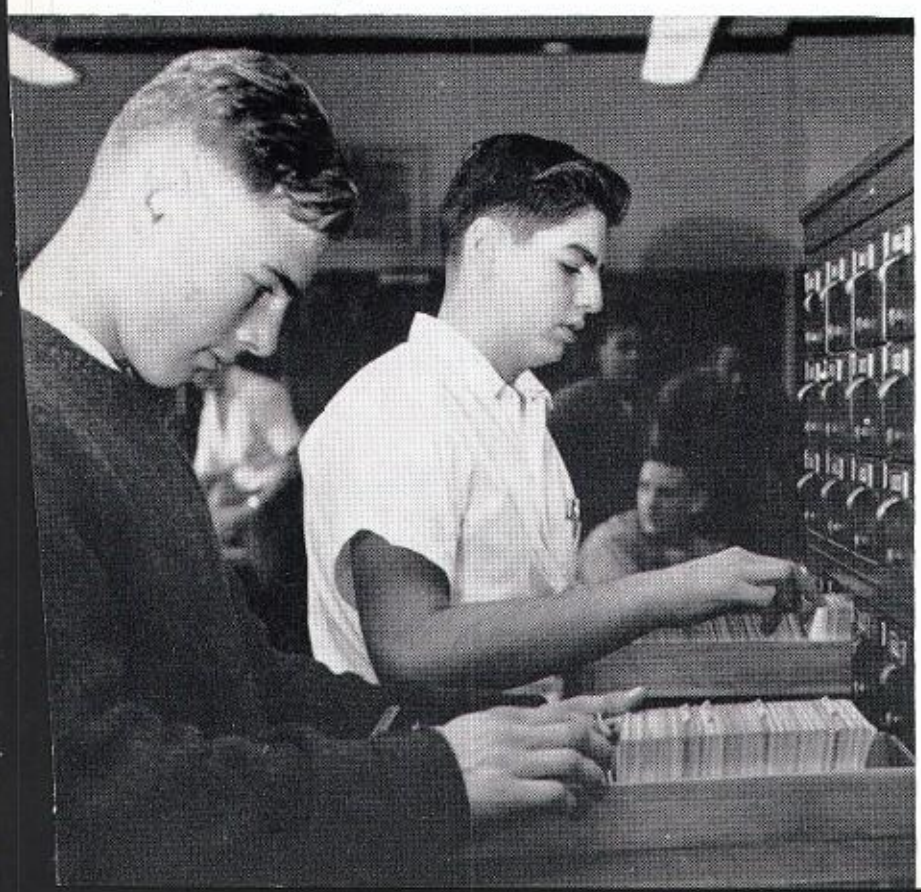
The high school library acquaints the students with working on their own initiative. Using the card catalogue, Ward Laughlin prepares an assignment.



Maturity is an outward sign of learning. It is an expression of growth and of knowledg which is usually achieved by students throughout these years in high school.

This change in attitude and actions is welcomed by those who must come in contact with the students. Parents, teachers, and acquaintances notice a more stable personality and more satisfaction character traits.

Maturity is gained both by the experience of joy and hardships. The happiness found in friendships and fun ages many students into adults. Failure and reproach also builds the character needed to grow up. Emotional stability is an acquirement gained by students who apply themselves under the pressure of assignment. Responsibility adds years of wisdom to a young age.

Without maturity, education would be an impossibility.

Karen McCoy assumes the duties of a second grade teacher for a day. Being a member of Future Teachers, she is provided with experience in her future profession.

Experience Is The Best Teacher

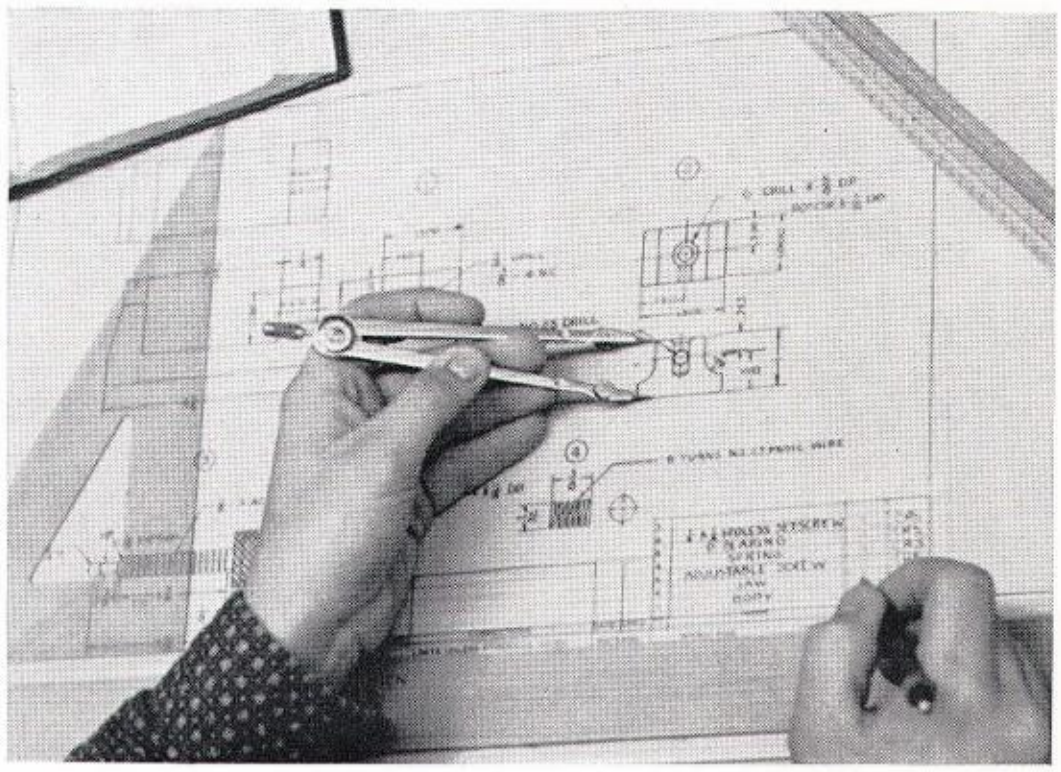
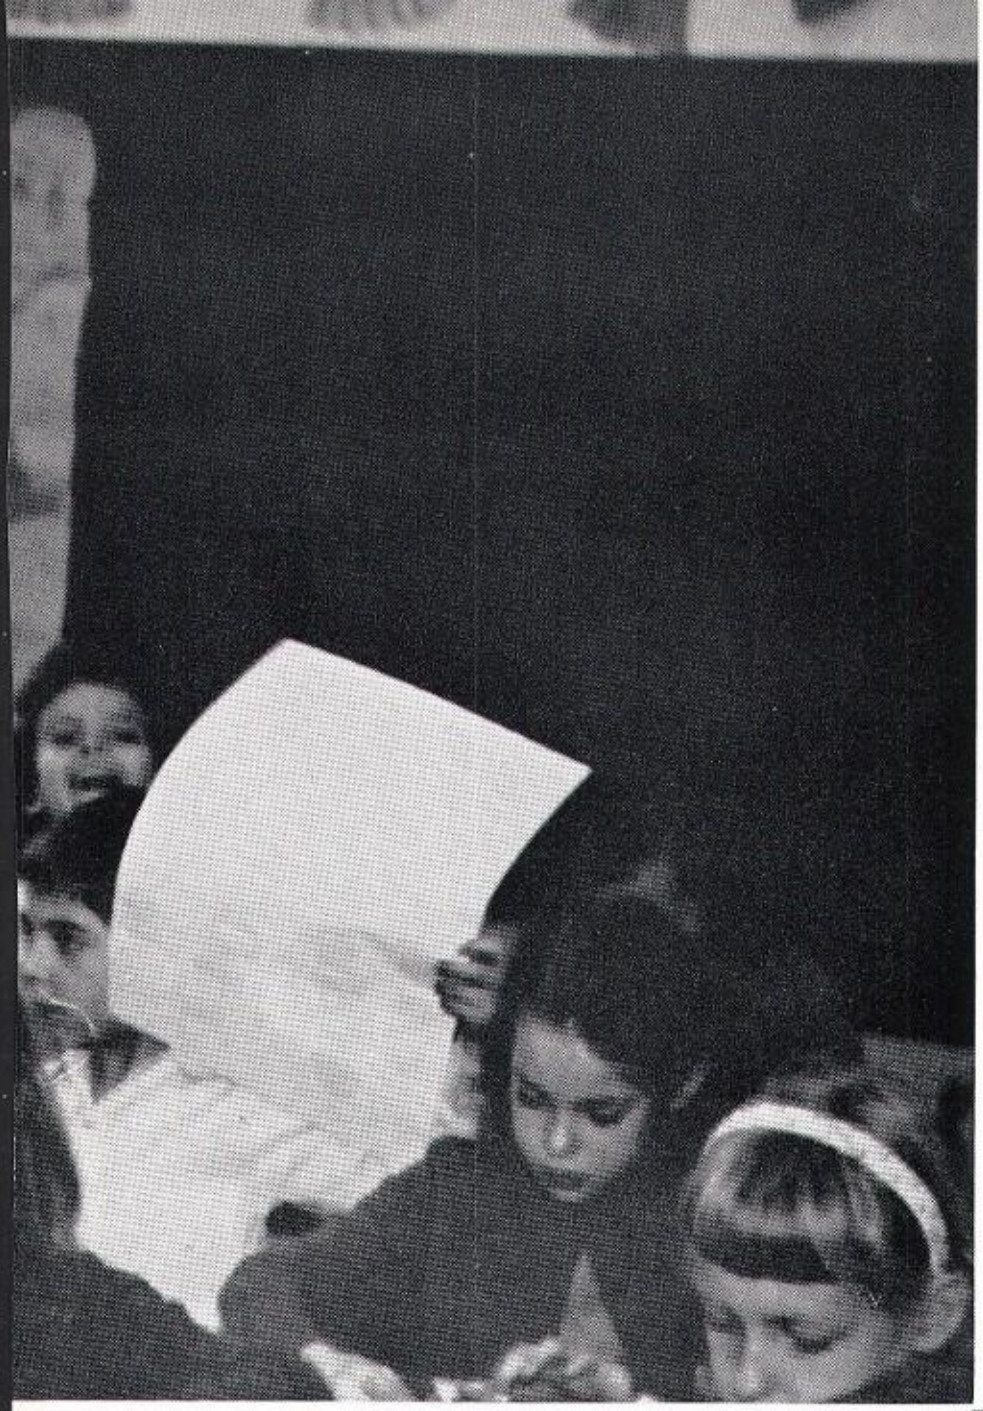
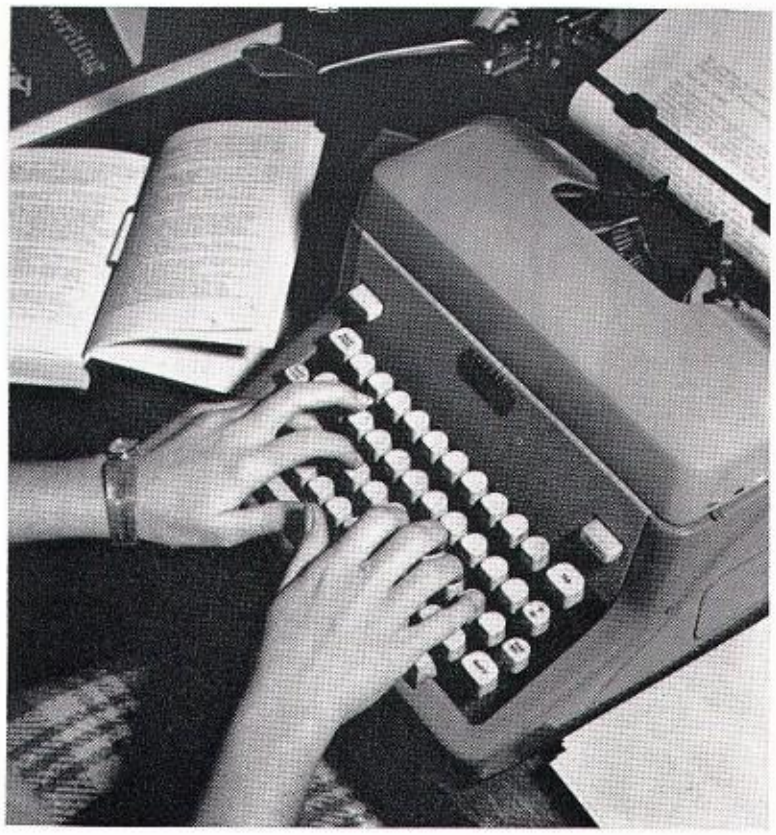
Many courses prepare the student by direct familiarization with their work. Girls learn the fundamentals of homemaking in the Home Economics' kitchens.



This boy is given the opportunity to apply what he has learned in the text. Learning by doing is an important factor in the development of a skill.





Well do these hands know the work which they will perform in this girl's profession as a secretary.

Our attitudes toward school work will provide a basis for our future life. The rewards of hard work in gaining an education will be an incentive to continue on in the world.

Throughout high school, many students learn by experiencing work in their chosen professions. This experience is afforded either by the school or by the students' own initiative.

Experience received in school goes far beyond manual labor and into emotional status. In school, through the various functions performed, we experience a small part of the outside world into which we will proceed.

In later life, experience will very often be a criteria for our advancement. It is during these years that we learn how to gain this requirement for life.

"I will prepare myself and someday my chance will come." Cheryl Sekely seems to agree with the advice of Abraham Lincoln as she makes use of her study period.

"Into each life some rain must fall . . ." In a short while this student will go out into the world and feel the brunt of storms and warmth of sunshine in everyday experiences.

Future Challenges

Upon completion of an educational course there is usually an exam. The test for our completion of learning will be life. How we will succeed in our chosen profession and how we will mingle with our associates has its beginning in these formative years.

Leaving school effects each of us differently. To many, it opens the doors to undreamed-of opportunities. To others, it closes the doors to compulsory education.

Dreams, prophecies, and hopes are all a part of graduation. What the future will hold is known by no one. No prediction could be entirely accurate, yet determination could be carried out to accuracy.

In acceptance of the future's challenge, we assume obligations to those who preceeded and succeeded us.

Fred Thompson is a typical student of our generation. Who is to say who will be the leaders tomorrow?

1961 Football Queen

Our 1961 Football Queen was Miss Marilyn Herzog. She was elected by the senior class and presented at our Homecoming game with Alliance, October 28.

For her presentation, Marilyn wore an all-white attire. She carried mums decorated with circular sparkles which matched her crown. Escorting our queen onto the field was Mitch Shaheen, President of Student Council.

Marilyn is very active in school organizations. She has held membership in the following: College Club, Times Staff, Medical Arts (vice-president), Concert Choir, Quill and Scroll, Booster Club, and Rifle Club.

After graduation she will enter the Bob Jones University in South Carolina to major in physical education.

Our queen at work . . . Marilyn works at the file cabinet as she performs her duties for the school newspaper.

Marilyn confided in Mitch Shaheen, her escort, that she was afraid her "shoes would come off and stick in the mud," as he presented her to the crowd at the half-time ceremony.

The Homecoming Court consisted of the senior attendant, Cathy Sekely; freshman, Tasia Efantis; junior, Mary Restaino; and sophomore, Niki Newton.

1961 Prom Queen

Miss Velma Croston reigned queen of our Junior-Senior Prom. Her election was by the senior class. Friday, May 5, 1961 held special memories for her as she was escorted to the bandstand of Moonlight Ballroom to be crowned by Junior Class President, Dennis Quinn.

Velma attended the usual parties before and after the prom. That evening she wore a white chiffon formal which added to her royalty.

School days found her in the following activities: Girls' Booster Club, Majorette and office attendant.

Miss Mckinleyite
Karen McCoy

The title of Miss McKinleyite is bestowed upon a senior girl who has been recognized as outstanding by the faculty, advisors, and members of the yearbook staff. The criteria for this honor are outstanding service to the school, fine character and personality, and high scholastic achievement.

A further consideration in her selection was to honor her for contributions which heretofore have not received due recognition. We are indeed proud to present Karen McCoy as Miss McKinleyite of 1961.

Karen was responsible for the academic section of the Yearbook. She also participated in the following activities: Latin Club 2, Treasurer 3, Girls Booster 1-4, Choral Club 2-3, Secretary 4, F.T.A. 1-4, College Club 3-4, Yearbook 3-4, Spring Review 2-3-4. Scholastically she was on the honor roll all four years. As a National Honor Student she was in the classical curriculum.

Mr. McKinleyite
Jim Wooley

Congratulations . . . . Jim Wooley. This title of Mr. McKinleyite is bestowed upon a senior boy who has proven himself outstanding throughout his four years at McKinley. He was chosen by the faculty, advisors and members of the yearbook staff. The criteria for this honor are, outstanding service to the school and student body, fine character and personality together with scholastic achievement.

Jim's activities have been: Boys' Booster Club, Projection Club, College Club, J.E.T.S., Student Council, Mu Alpha Theta, Freshman Football, Swimming, Track, Baseball, Junior Class President, and senior Class Vice-President.

His sholastic achievements were: four years of Honor Roll, being elected to National Honor his Junior year, and achieving second highest average for first semester of his senior year.

We take pride in presenting Jim Wooley as our 1961 Mr. McKinleyite.

LEARNING FOR LIVING

It is through club meetings that we learn and exercise formal etiquette and procedure. This is our chance to voice our opinions democratically. Leadership is practiced as club officers officiate at their activities. Students are on their own, learning to plan and organize. The success of any project depends upon the co-operation attained by its participants.

The qualities to be gained are numerous, when you take an active part in school organizations. This may lend to chairmanship in one of society's association or better organization in the business world.

Participation in activities is essential if a well-rounded student is to gain a full measure of total educational experience available at McKinley.

Thespians

The play, "Head in the Clouds," presented in the fall, was sponsored by McKinley's Thespians, produced under the direction of Mr. Knight, and assisted by a student director of the troup.

To become a member of Thespians, one must have at least ten points which may be acquired by participating in various dramatics activities.

Officers were Bob Howard, president; Mary Restaino, vice-president; Mary Beth March, secretary; Joanna Berbellis, treasurer.

One of the most important members of a production is the director. Here Bob Howard, director, awaits the entrance of a cast member.

The students really enjoyed this year's play, HEAD IN THE CLOUDS. In this scene, Bob Howard and Mary Beth March watch a brief brawl between Buddy Glaser and Joe Kanfer.

Elaine Poulous gives Jill Coron a final check to make sure that her make-up has been applied properly.

Jill Coron holds the symbols of the American Theater. One is to signify the laughter and triumph while the other is to signify the tragedy and defeat of the various plays presented.

Advisors for the yearbook staff were Mrs. Gaylor, Business Staff Advisor, and Mr. Hazard, Editorial Staff Advisor.

A Successful

Yearbook Staff

"Learning for Living," the theme of this year's annual staff was used in the 1961 McKinleyite as a motif to represent your school life here at McKinley. We sincerely hope that this production reflects the general excellence of the school which it represents and that it will be another national award winning publication.

Each staff member has contributed a vast amount of his time and energy to make this year's annual interesting and complete. They, along with you, have learned from living their important part as a staff member.

Times Staff

The main goal of the school newspaper, The Times, is to inform the student body. This year, the staff published 12 newspapers. Highlights of the paper were "Bulldog Barks," "Senior Stars," "The Club House," and "Frosh Farrago."

Staff members gather the news and write the stories. The printer then makes a galley proof which is then proofread by the staff. Papers are then printed and distributed to the students. Although each staff member has a story to cover, they receive much aid from the stories submitted by the journalism classes. Staff members for the following year are chosen from these classes.

This year's staff sponsored a baby picture contest and a magazine drive. Miss Hanna is advisor.

Spirited Majorettes Promote Enthusiasm

The majorettes at McKinley High School must play a musical instrument so that after marching season they can take their place in the school's Concert Band.

They are selected on their ability to twirl a baton, to adapt themselves to the various dances used, and on their physical appearance. A majorette must be most co-operative, for a majority of the routines used are of a team-like nature, and not one of individualism.

This year Jane Robeson, head majorette, and her team presented many interesting programs which highlighted the half-time shows.

Concert Band Creates Personal Enjoyment

One of the highlights of the band year was the Military Ball. Nancy Kaiser and Joe Simone reigned as the king and queen.

Concert Band

The marching band becomes the concert band with the closing of the football season. They appear in concerts throughout the remainder of the year. It presents programs for the P.T.A. and civic groups, and also exchange concerts with neighboring schools. The band takes part in all concerts sponsored by the Ohio Education Association and in local, district, and state clinics.

The philosophy of the McKinley High School Instrumental Music Department is one of a developmental nature rather than mechanical. However, at all times, we strive to produce good music, never forgetting that music is a creative process. We want each student to develop a keen sense of what is good in music through their own appreciation of the arts. Mr. Stump is director.

Marching Band Boosts School Spirit

McKinley's twin marching band added much enjoyment to the football season during the halftime shows.

Marching Band

In the fall, the McKinley High School Marching Band works to produce halftime shows of variety, never forgetting that the music played on the field must be of the highest quality. The band participates in all the community activities including parades, concerts for civic meetings, and other activities for the good of the community. The Pep Band which is made up of the various members of the Senior Band plays for basketball games and school rallies.

Concert Choir

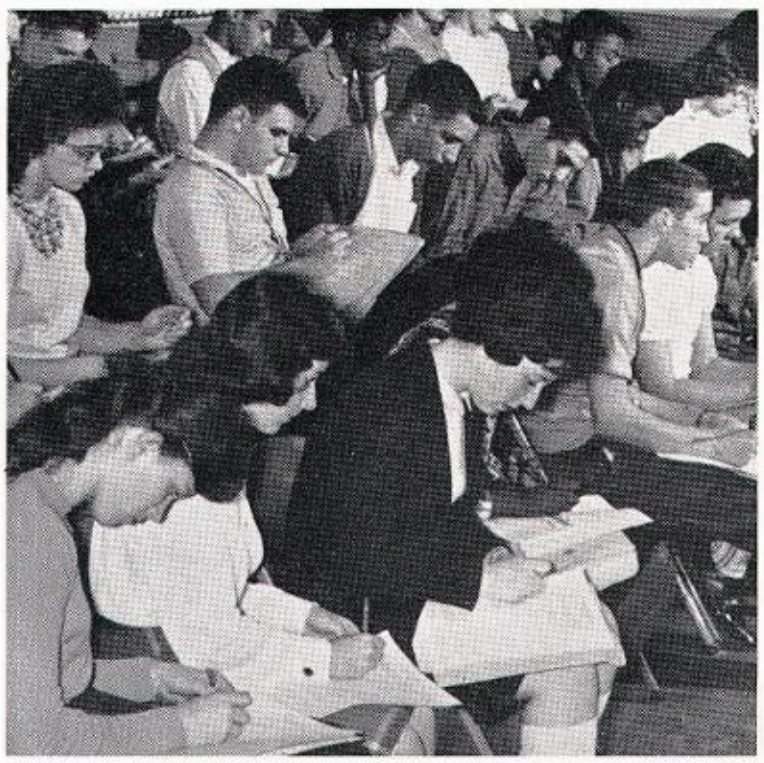
The fifty-five select voices of the Concert Choir performed at over twenty different occasions during the year. Among the performances for outside organizations were programs over two radio stations, the Five School Festival at Massillon, The Stark County Music Festival at the Memorial Auditorium, and many private banquets. The programs for the student body were Christmas, Thanksgiving, and Easter programs, football assemblies, and ceremonies affiliated with graduation. Highlighting the year was the Spring Concert.

At the end of the year, the choir held a banquet which was planned by the officers, Anne Dickerhof, president; Dick Wood, vice-president; Karen McCoy, secretary; and Judy Casey, treasurer. Directing the group was Mr. Poston.



Theory is very important in both learning and understanding music. Several members of the choir take notes as the instructor speaks.

Student Council

Class representatives had the opportunity to voice their opinions for themselves and fellow students through the legislative branch of McKinley High School. The Student Council's main function is to correlate the efforts of the students and the faculty to obtain a better school.

The Council is the only organization at McKinley to have its members elected by the entire student body of the school.

Some of the main projects sponsored by the Council this year were the get-acquainted dance, Dress-Up and Clean-Up Days, class elections, Religious Emphasis Week, Stunt Nite, and the Red Stocking Drive. Also executed this year was the decorating of the cafeteria at Christmas and the cleaning up of the cafeteria.

This proved to be a very successful year under the guidance of the officers, Mitch Shaheen, president; Jim Ake, vice-president; Karen Eddy, secretary; and Nancy Peterson, treasurer. Mr. Schott was advisor.

Semi-final candidates for class officers begin to campaign. Through poster parties, speeches, and assemblies, they attempt to influence the student's vote.

On election day, the student steps into the voting booth where she casts her ballot for candidate of her choice.

When the votes have been tabulated and the elected officer is announced, many friends rush to offer him their congratulations. Only through his success while in office will they be able to tell whether or not they have made the right choice.

Students Receive Honor For Outstanding

National Honor Society

Membership in the National Honor Society is based upon the qualities of Character, Scholarship, Leadership, and Service. The responsibility of choosing the members belongs to the entire faculty headed by a committee of fifteen teachers. Any senior in the upper fourth of his class may apply for membership, but of this fourth only about half are actually selected.

Two-year members initiate the senior members at an impressive candlelight ceremony in May. At the close of the ceremony the new junior members are tapped. Since only six to eight students are tapped, it is a very special honor to be elected to the Society as a junior. Character and scholastic excellence is the basis for selection in the junior year.

The McKinley Chapter, established in 1922, has the distinction of being the eighteenth of more than six thousand chapters in the United States. No other honor bestowed by the school excels the honor of election to National Honor Society.

Skill Gained In Public Speaking

During the year, members appear at various tournaments throughout the state. Like Margo Voltz, each takes his place at the podium to deliver his message.

National Forensic League

Those students who find participation in their speech classes especially rewarding may continue this experience through membership in the National Forensic League.

During the year the students participated in speech and debate contests. Merit points are earned in proportion to the number of contests won by each individual. The club took part in tournaments at Glenwood, Lehman, Massillon, Louisville, and the University of Pittsburgh. The largest tournament in the Northeastern Ohio Speech League District was held at McKinley. The more ambitious members of N.F.L. took part in the student Congress, a mock legislature. Here bills are discussed with fervor and intelligence.

The members also took part in assemblies and the introduction of speakers.

Officers this year were Bobbie Craddock, president; Al Kamen, treasurer; and Rosie Nucklos, secretary. Mr. Knight was club advisor.

Future Teachers

For the past twelve years the J. L. G. Pottorf Future Teachers of America Club has remained one of the most successful organizations at McKinley. And this year was no exception. Among the projects of the club were: The adoption of families at Christmas, Scholarship Recognition Day Assembly, Attendance Banner Awards, Student Teacher Day, and the selling of holly at Christmas. Many interesting and different types of programs were planned; including films, special speakers, and field trips.

The officers this year were Mary Kraus, president; Jo Ann Yost, vice-president; Linda Ackerman, secretary; and Scott Ritchie, treasurer. Miss Summers was the club's advisor.

Providing Assistance For Future Careers

Linda Weber is in a hypnotic trance enduced by Doctor Gilbert, hypnotist. Members of the club enjoyed speakers from many phases of medicine.

Medical Arts

Medical Arts Club is open to any student who is interested in some phase of medicine as his career or who is undecided about his future. There are approximately eighty members who plan to become dentists, nurses, speech therapists, medical secretaries, medical doctors, or the like.

Meetings consist of speakers, movies, and panel discussions. Among the speakers were a dentist, hypnotist, pediatrician, medical doctor, and a physical therapist. The year was highlighted by and Harriet Arnold, treas. Miss Eckis, advisor.

Cultivating Interests In Special Fields

Future Secretaries

To provide for a future in the business world and to encourage interest in the secretarial field is the purpose of the Future Secretaries Association. The Club has tried to achieve this goal by having outside speakers, skits, and panels. Some of the topics were about job opportunities in the newspaper field, how to get along with your coworkers, the traits necessary to become a successful secretary, and profiles on interesting secretaries.

In February, the induction of new members was held. Each new member received a pink rose, which is the symbol of the club.

The officers of the club were Barbara Clulo, president; Judy Lee, vice-president; Hilda Baugus, secretary; and Anna Wise, treasurer. The advisors were Dorothy Darrow and Leah Stonehill.

Future Engineers

For those students considering a career in engineering, membership in this club is a rewarding and informative experience.

The club is affiliated with the National Junior Engineering Technical Society, from which it receives a variety of information concerning different fields of engineering.

A trip to the University of Akron for the purpose of viewing a nuclear reactor was made in the latter part of the year. Other meetings included movies and speakers from industry.

Officers were Bob Minney, president; Bill Vokanos, vice-president; Ed Miller, secretary; and Boyd Martin, treasurer. The club advisor was Mr. William Rohrer.

Requirements For Higher Education

Senior College Club

The purpose of the College Club is to give to the members necessary information concerning college. They hear guest speakers who advise them as to choice of schools, making application, taking entrance examinations, obtaining scholarships, joining sororities and fraternities.

The students are made to realize that it is essential for them to get the right start—to work at the beginning of their freshman year.

Officers this year were Bob Nasal, president; Pat Breen, vice-president; Jane Robeson, secretary; and Nancy Kaiser, treasurer.

Discussing the program for their next meeting are Dennis Quinn, vice-president; Joe Rodriguez, treasurer; Connie Snyder, secretary; and George Lazarides, president.

Junior College Club

Because college is thought to need more and more preparation, a college club for the juniors has been established to give needful information to all those who plan to further their education by attending college.

The members are made to realize that it is essential for them to get the right start: to work at the beginning of their freshman year. Social and extra-curricular activities are important, but the student must be careful to limit such activities. Each meeting of the club presented a different aspect in preparing for college.

Officers were George Lazarides, president; Dennis Quinn, vice-president; Joe Rodriquez, treasurer; and Connie Snyder, secretary.

Common Interest Are Shared In

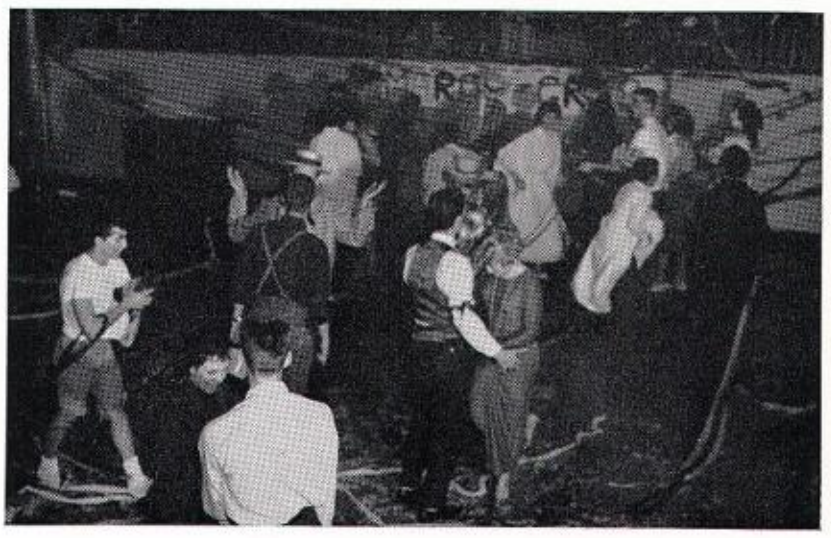
Students who took French, Spanish, or German learned more about the customs, traditions and languages of these countries through the monthly meetings of Modern Language Club.

The meetings consisted of speakers, slides, movies, discussions and parties. The largest event of the year was the "Mardi Gras," an all school masquerade dance.

Officers were Don Cole, president; Sharon Telanof, French vice-president; Anne Dickerhof, Spanish vice-president; Carol Klebaum, German vice-president; Cynthia Dodrill, secretary; and Jerry Wassem, treasurer. The Advisor was Mr. Armour.

One of the highlights of the school year is the annual "Mardi Gras" sponsored by the Modern Language Club. Here we see several students lining up for refreshments.

Many of the classes find enjoyment in the puppet shows presented by members of the club. The programs are done entirely in foreign languages.



It seems to be almost customary to tear down the decorations after the dance as these students did at the "Mardi Gras."

The Cultures Of Foreign Lands

Latin Club

Members of the Latin Club not only have the chance to learn more about ancient Roman life by reading, but by actually participating in it. This year's activities included the annual initiation of new members by an ancient Roman rite, a game meeting in which all games were played in Latin, and The Saturnalia or Christmas program which was observed in the true Roman tradition. The members also gained knowledge of Greek mythology and Roman history.

Officers were Mary Restaino, president; Majorie Ash, vice-president; Kathy Armstrong, secretary; Theresa Recchio, treasurer; and Robert Boylan, program chairman. Mr. James Lowry served as club advisor.

Bob Boylan leads the club in several games at one of their monthly meetings. Here we see them playing a game of Latin Bingo.

Honor Students Acquire Personal

Key Club

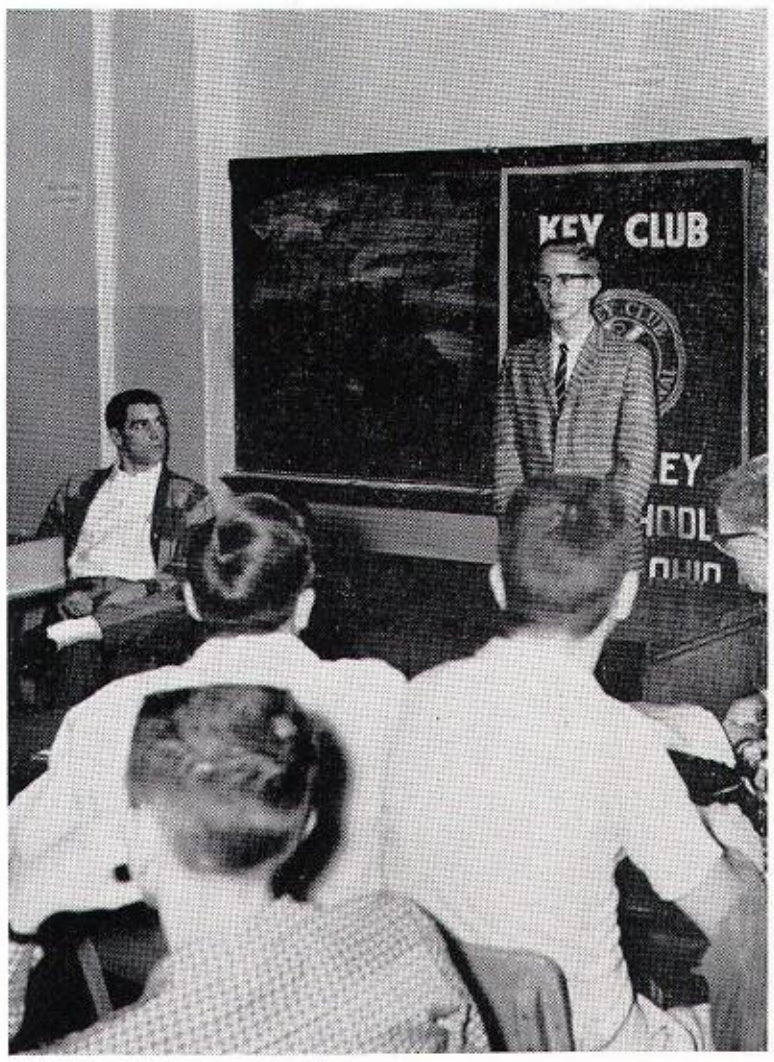
McKinley became the first high school in the city of Canton to have a chapter in Key Club International. The organization is sponsored by the Canton Kiwanis Club.

Being primarily a school and community service organization, the Key Club has helped to usher for Freshman Day, sold programs at the football and basketball games, taken charge of the Adult Booster Club membership drive and aided the Salvation Army during the Christmas season.

Officers were Tom Sirgo, president; Jim Ake, vice-president; Fred Thompson, secretary; and Bob Minney, treasurer. Dr. Masonbrink is the club's advisor.

Several members of the club make posters at a poster party to publicize their all-school dance, "Sweetheart Swing."



The Key Club learns of the activities of other clubs from their district lieutenant governor at one of their meetings.

Satisfaction Through Service To Others

Girls' Service League

Fifteen girls, who at the end of their junior year had retained a minimum average of ninety became members of the Girls' Service League.

As juniors, they began their year of service with Class Night, Baccalaurate, and Commencement. In the fall they guided new students to their classrooms, sponsored a Freshmen girls' party, ushered at Open House, and throughout the year sent get-well cards to absentee girls. They also campaigned to sell McKinley Bulldog Bookcovers and kept the bulletin boards in order and up to date. A new job for the girls this year was to guide eighth-graders around the building.

Ellen Kaiser led the club as president while other officers were Pat Breen, vice-president; Margo Voltz, secretary; and Sharon Suffecool, treasurer. Miss Lillian Walton was the club advisor.

THIRD ROW, Bob Nasal, Jim Woolley, Jerry Wassem, Bob Minney, Don Cole, Carl Spatar, Wesley Worth, president; Jeff Katz, treasurer.

Gaining Knowledge Outside The Class

Math Club

This club is designed to give members a broader understanding and knowledge of mathematics than is possible to attain during class time.

Anyone who is or has been enrolled in first year algebra, who has an eighty or above average, and who is sincerely interested in math, is eligible for membership. The only requirement is that each member complete one project pertaining to the field of mathematics during the year.

Officers for the year were Wesley Worth, president; Jeff Katz, treasurer; Anne Dickerhof, secretary; and Harriet Arnold, historian. Advisors were Mr. Moorhead and Miss Swinehart.

Art League

The most important activity of this club is its artistic contribution toward school functions. Much time and effort was put into signs, plaques, displays and decorations.

Highlighting the year was the McKinley Art Show which awarded the best student art work in the various classifications. Members of the club also found time for school activities, parties, and a picnic in the spring.

Leading the club this year were Cynthia Dodrill, president; Mary Clax, vice-president; Carolyn Kemp, secretary; and Jeannie Ginsberg, treasurer. The club advisor was Mr. Edwards.

Quill And Scroll

The motto of Quill and Scroll, the International Honorary Society for high school journalists, is, "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free."

This organization was formed for the purpose of promoting research and of determining the types of publications best suited to high schools by conducting surveys. It also aids in standardizing instruction in the fields.

Students who have accomplished superior work in some phase of journalistic or creative endeavor and have a good general scholastic standing may become members.

Aviation Club

Aviation club members have gained knowledge concerning all aspects of the aviation world through films, field trips, and speakers. Some of the speakers, such as the Major of Civil Air Patrol, have offered members opportunities to further their flight experiences through actual participation. Members received valuable information concerning commercial and military air operations which should prove to be beneficial in the future.

Officers were Nick Nonno, president; Steve Kirman, vice-president; and Beverly Hill, secretary. Mr. Hazard was club advisor.

Nurses Aids

The First Aid Room at McKinley incorporates students to work as assistants to the nurse. These students are chosen for their scholastic average and attendance record. Some of the duties performed by the girls are helping students to sign in, filling hot water bottles, and going with students to the hospital in case of an emergency. The program is supervised by our school nurse, Mrs. Kathryn Corbett, R.N.

Junior Red Cross

Junior Red Cross is organized for humanitarian service to others. The projects for the year included packing the overseas chest for children in disaster areas, sending soap to Dr. Albert Schweitzer's Hospital in Lambarene, Africa, and supplying books for the High School Library.

Officers this year were Jane Robeson, president; Wilhelm Gabber, vice-president; Eric Eberhard, secretary; George Kostan, secretary; and Tim Brady, treasurer. Sponsors were Mrs. McRoberts, Mrs. Mooth, Mrs. Jackson, and Miss Bozman.

Poetry Club

Poetry Club is an organization formed for the benefit of those who wish to either read, study, or write poetry of their own. The club, composed of approximately ten active members, meets monthly for the discussion and writing of poems.

During the year the members write lyrics and rhymes for the seasons of the year and special occasions. They also sponsor an annual poetry contest in which anyone may participate.

President of the club was Jane Welsh. The other officers were Margo Voltz, vice-president; Linda Roknick, secretary; and Joan Simms, treasurer. Miss Long, English teacher, was club advisor.

Librarians

Students who are interested in library work and service to their school become library assistants. Delivering library slips, helping students, collecting overdue books, and replacing books are among their numerous duties.

For the last few years, the student librarians have attended conferences at Western Reserve University in Cleveland. They meet other students from all over Ohio at various meetings.

Leading the club were Kathy Giesey, president; Charlotte Nasseff, vice-president; Donna Andrews, secretary; and Linda Owen, treasurer.

Leadership Through Active Participation

Girls' And Boys' Leaders

Those who possess an enthusiastic interest in the physical education department of McKinley, and strive to help others develop a similar concern, compose the Girls' and Boys' Leaders Clubs.

Members must maintain an eighty scholastic average, ninety gym average, and a ninety deportment average. They assist in gym classes by helping to teach students the various sport activities carried on in their physical education classes. The girls enjoy taking part in the annual "Play Night" and "Initiation Day." The boys get an opportunity to demonstrate their co-ordination through the presentation of an exhibition each year at the annual Yale-Harvard game. Advisors for the clubs were Mr. Weick and Mrs. Clarico.

School spirit is at its highest during the football, basketball or other sport assembly sponsored by the combined Booster Clubs.

Group Enthusiam Promotes School Spirit . . .

Girls' - Boys' Booster Clubs

The Booster Clubs are organized to help promote a spirit of enthusiasm in the students at all rallies and sport events. During the year the pep assemblies were highlighted by the crowning of the football, basketball, and track queens.

Other activities sponsored by the clubs are the McKinley Beat Massillon Homeroom Decoration Contest, Carnation Day, the football dance, a special Christmas project, and buses for away games. Advisors for the clubs were Mr. Leyda and Mrs. Sheil.

Operating the school radio equipment are Lester Jendro, George Peck, and Alan Day, members of Radio Club.

Radio Club

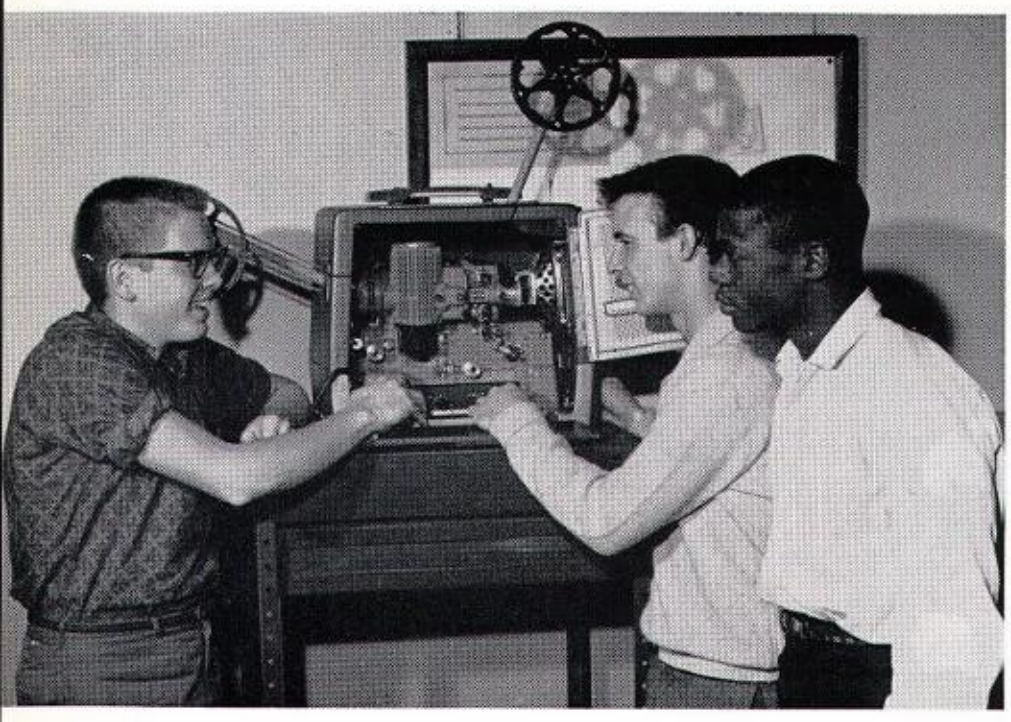
Radio club was organized with the purpose of promoting amateur participation by students. The objective for each active member is to obtain a novice, technician or general amateur license. By learning the International Morse Code, he may acquire an FCC license.

The club has been affiliated with the Canton Amateur Radio Club as Student Chapter Number One. Officers were Alan Day, president; and George Peck, vice-president, secretary and treasurer. Mr. McBride is club advisor.



Studying the various parts of the projector are Glen Westover, Tom Payne, and George LeFlore.

Projection Club

Members of the McKinley Projection Club extended their service to the school by showing films throughout the day. The club consists of boys who must know how to operate the opague projectors, the sixteen millimeter projectors, slide projectors, and film strip projectors.

While one projector always remains in 321, there are also two which are used in various classrooms, the Little Theater, and the auditorium. The advisor of the club is Mr. Pratt.

Stage Craft Club

The main responsibility of the Stage Craft Club is to assist in the production of plays, musicals, assemblies, and special events presented here at McKinley. The club makes sure that each production is well supplied with props, scenery, and the best lighting arrangement.

The club elected Dave Ancil, president; Paul Patete, vice-president; Ray Sterner, secretary-treasurer; Jeff Katz, electrician; and Nick Cindea, assistant electrician. Miss Bozman is advisor.

Graphic Arts

Graphic Arts Club is composed of twenty-five outstanding boys from the printing classes. They are voted into the club for their leadership qualities and their skill in printing. The members print various programs for school dances, schedules for the numerous sports at McKinley, and hall and library slips.

The officers were Larry Genera, president; Mark Hall, vice-president; Thomas Flynn, secretary; and Larry Vanicek, treasurer.

Camera Club

The Camera Club, composed of twenty-six members, was reactivated this year after several years of inactivity. With exception of two or three members, all are amateurs. The club has taken up various subjects to better their photography, film developing, and flash photography. Officers were Skip Westrich, president; Chuck Riley, vice-president; Jean Isabelle, secretary; and Larry Vanicek, treasurer. Mr. Buchanan is the club advisor.

Our athletes realize the necessity of a healthy and sound body. They know well, the rewards of good health and disadvantages of a poor physical condition. They sincerely appreciate co-operation in the form of teamwork. "Practice makes perfect" as the saying goes and those who participate in sports understand the need for training.

. . . Through Competitive Sports

They comprehend the need for sacrifices which are beneficial to their physical fitness.

Acceptance of both winning and defeat forms not only a good athlete, but a better future citizen for the game of life.

Joyous in a hard fought victory, dejected in a closely-contested defeat; both are the story of McKinley football and both are indispensible in our learning for living.

Fullback George Smith eludes a duo of Newark tacklers and crosses for six of the pups' 58 point splurge.

Pups Are Successful

The Pups went through the first six games of the season with only one setback, and that to a very spirited Akron South congregation. The Bulldogs allowed only 46 points to their own 214. The everpowerful Warren Black Panthers, who later went on to upset Massillon, felt the revenge of a spirited McKinley team. Also both of our city cousins, Timken and Lincoln, along with Newark went down to defeat by 50 points or more. Then the trio of Steubenville, Alliance, and Mansfield did what had become to appear to be the impossible. The Pups gave up all three of these very close and disappointing games. They bounced back to their biggest point output of the season in a triumph over Erie Academy just prior to our tilt with Massillon. The Tigers again showed why they are State Champs as the Bulldogs were soundly thumped, 42-0.

Cross Country . . . A Good Season

Cross Country

In the district meet at Akron on October 29, 1960, the Pups finished in a very respectable eighth place in a field of twenty-nine teams from all over northeastern Ohio.

Returning next year as lettermen to give us a very promising team will be: Ed Averette, Ralph Spencer, Gordon East, Ben Miles, Chuck Speidel, Bill Vokonas, and Brady Ward. Also returning to add experienced depth to the squad will be Paul Shea, Ed Maciag, Sam Ross, Joe John, Dennis Horton, David Miles and John Rhodes.

The McKinley Cross Country team enjoyed a fine record this year. The Pups won a triangular meet with Braceville and Levittsburg and took seconds in two triangular meets with Akron North and Springfield, and Akron North and Akron Kenmore, respectively. They also finished second in a meet with five teams competing at Warren. They competed in two dual meets with North Canton and Akron Buchtel respectively which they dropped.

Cheerleaders Lend Support

The abundant enthusiasm and overflowing energy displayed by our cheerleaders is infectious. Here is an example of the spirit which they generously share.

Bottom to top, Head Cheerleader Cathy Sekely, Barb DeFlory, Donna Rice, Jolanda Schibner, Gerri Capistrain, Betty Valtich, Florene Marku.

Cheerleaders

To be a McKinley High School cheerleader is an honor and a great responsibility. The seven girls work hard towards boosting school spirit and championship. Practices are held ninth period every day. Head cheerleader, Cathy Sekely, leads the girls in various cheering routines. Their obvious interest in their school and their abundant spirit is infectious.

Last summer three of our girls, Cathy Sekely, Donna Rice, and Barb DeFlorey attended Smith Walbridge Cheerleading Camp, coming home with honors by placing third in daily and final cheerleading competition.

Pup Cagers Enjoy Successful

A tense moment is viewed in the faces of the coaches and the players on the bench

Many games are won or lost at the foul line. A team which is consistently good from the foul line is a hard team to beat. Here Bob Miller has a chance to add to McKinley's score as he attempts a point from the charity stripe.

Season . . . . . 15 - 7

Basketball

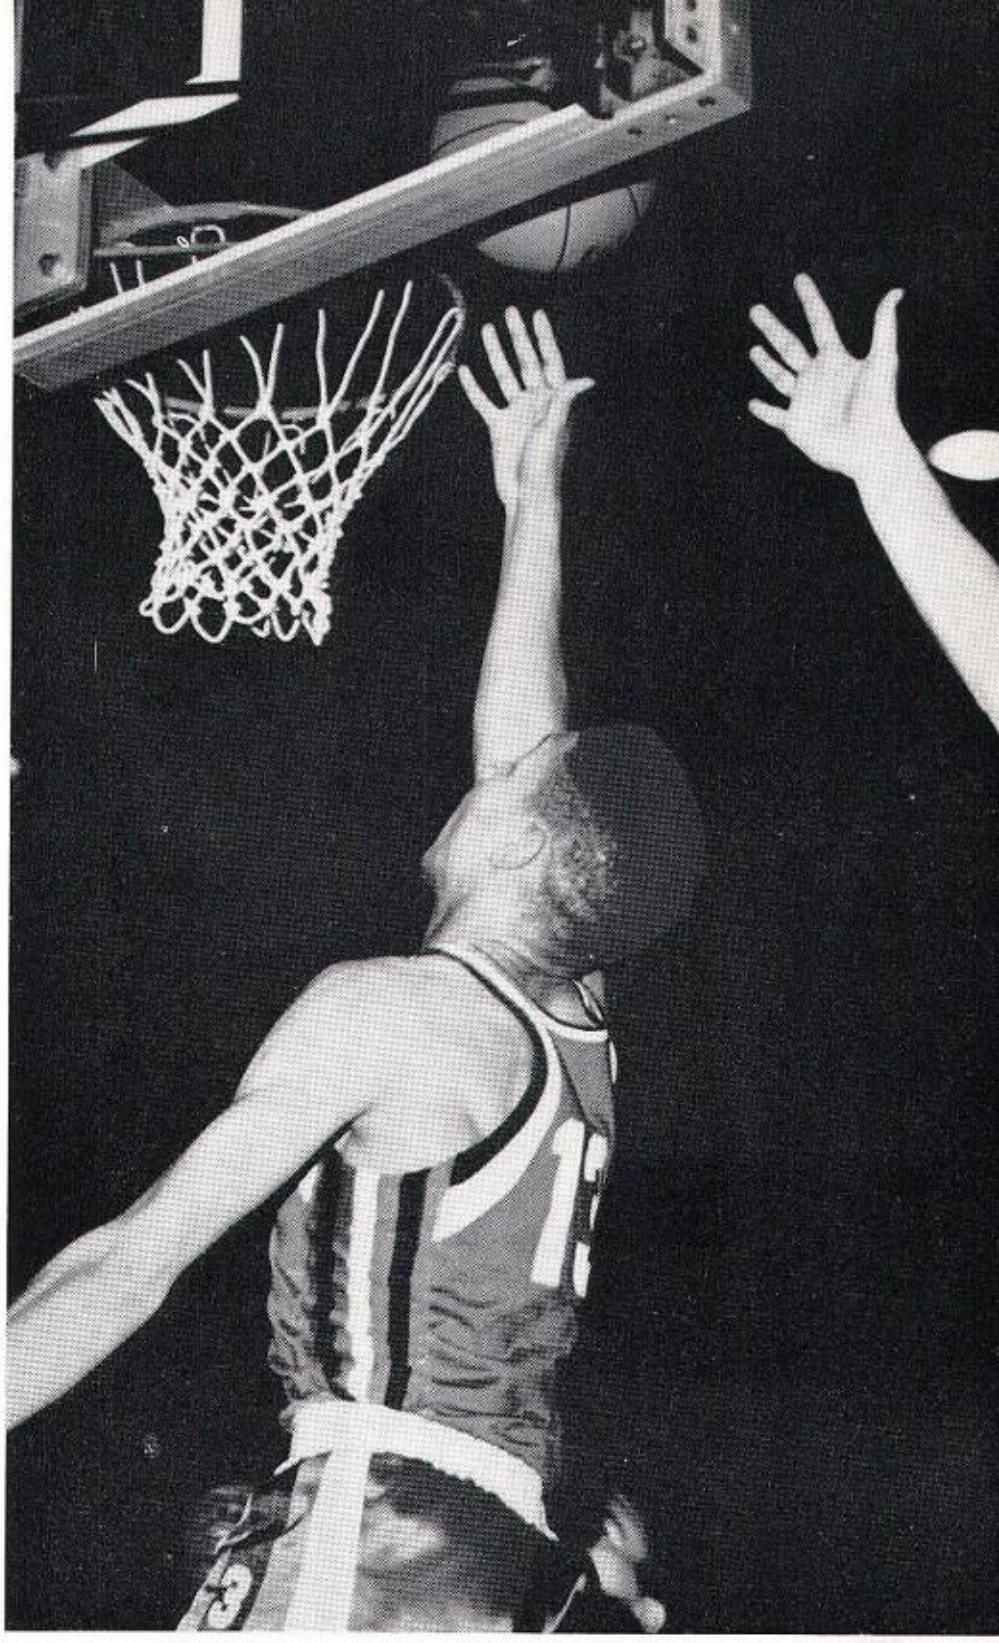
Starting with a "green" team with no regulars from last season, the prospects for McKinley's basketball were dull. After winning our first five games, things started to look up. The Pups then dropped a defensive game to the Massillon Tigers, but came back to clobber Warren. The rest of the season was an up and down affair, dropping both contests with our city cousins Lincoln and Lehman and having little chance to get into the thick of the tournament action.

Although inexperienced, we had a well-rounded team in Bob Miller, Bill Morgan, Don Williams, Leon Gupton, Ted Scoville, Dave Katusin, and Bob Baxter. These boys were credits to their team and school by displaying determination and fine sportsmanship.

Returning next year and promising a fine season will be: Dave Katusin, Bill Morgan, Floyd Day, Don Smith, Lou Harris, Arnie Fontes, Ray Johnson, Leon Gupton, and John Nieporte.

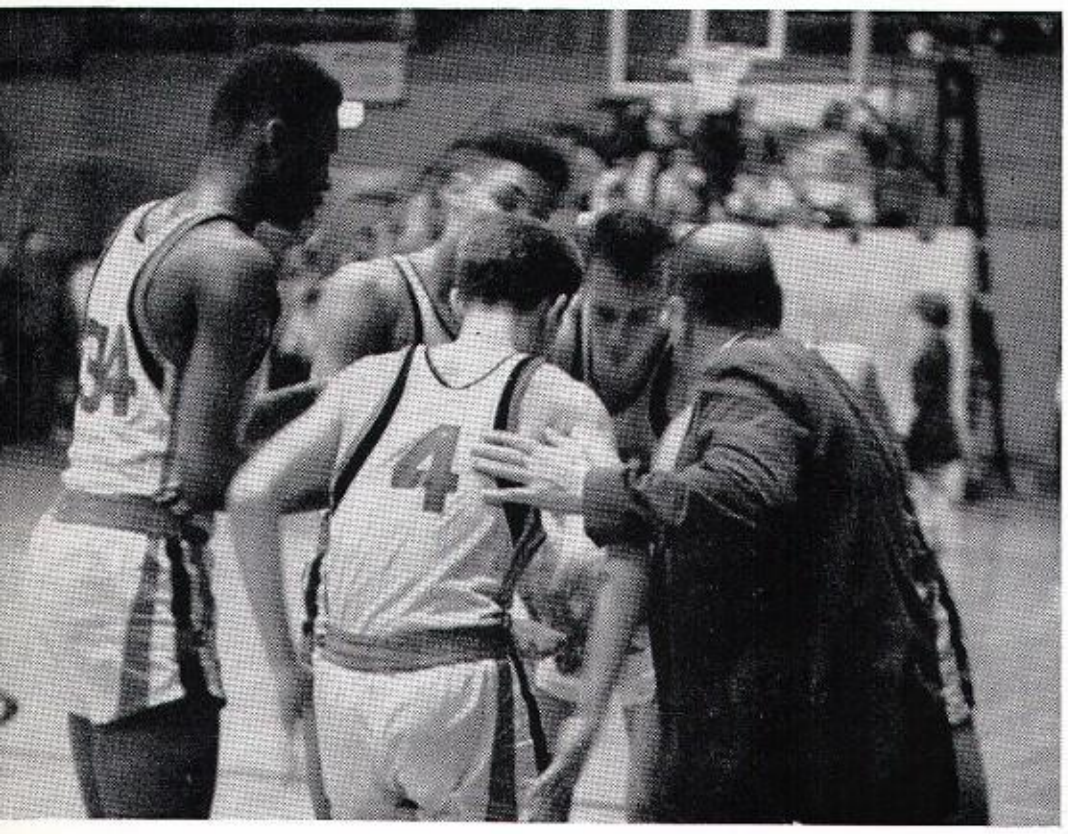


Top team scorer Bob Miller lays in two points during the Lincoln game.

Leon Gupton passes the ball to Ted Scoville as the pups try to maneuver into scoring position.

The enthusiasm displayed on the part of the student body has much to do with the outcome of the game. The players can surely feel the spirit of these backers and this can affect their play.

During a time out the pups get a chance to rest and hear a few words of advice from the coach.



The basketball game starts with the tip off. Here sophomore center Bill Morgan goes high in the air to get the tip off to a team-mate.

Pups Earn Trip To Columbus

Basketball

In the first game of the Sectional Class AA Basketball Tournament, McKinley defeated Orrville by a score of 63-51, and the next night pulled out a squeaker from the Wooster Generals in a closely contested 45-44 ball game.

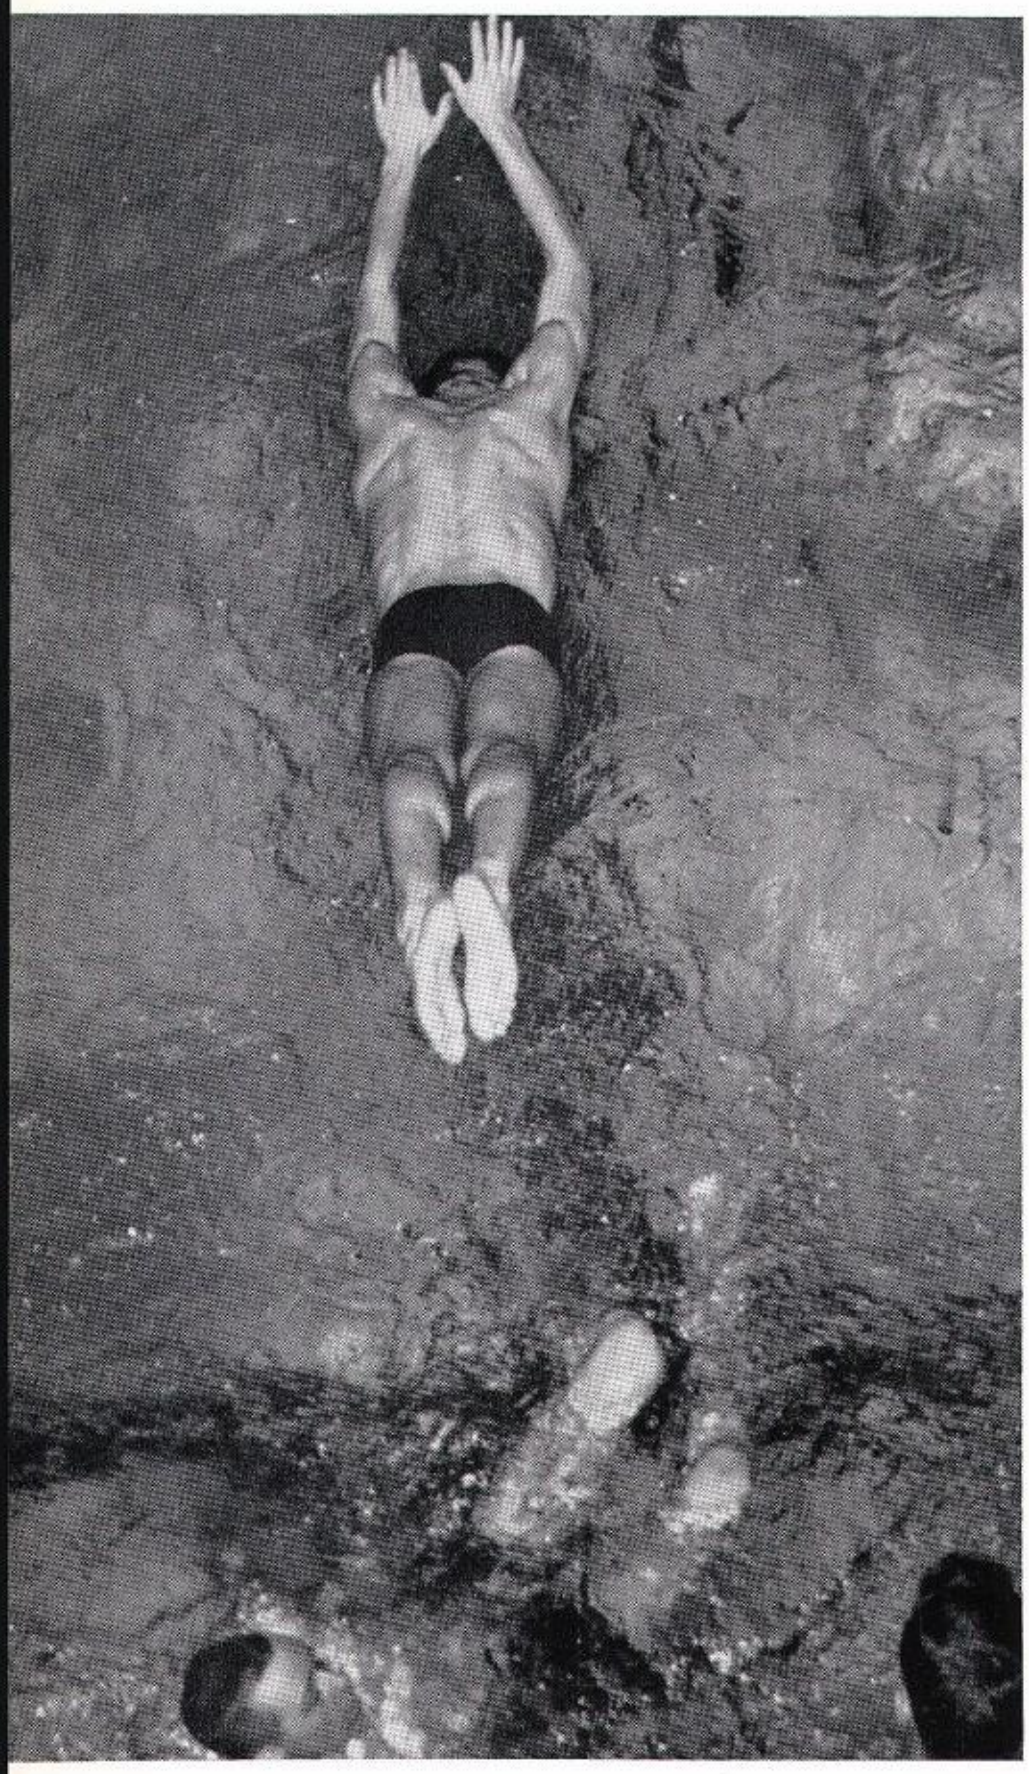
The next weekend saw the Pups defeat an inspired Alliance Aviator quintet 55-52, and the next evening come from behind to stop the highly favored Lehman Polar Bears by a 54-50 score.

From here, McKinley moved into Columbus for the Regional Tournament. The Pups put on a surge in the second half which defeated Columbus Linden, McKinley 55-48.

Then on Saturday, March 18, the team from Portsmouth with their superior height and field shooting finally ended McKinley's bid for the State Championship by a score of 46-38, and we left the scene in the hopes that next year the title would be ours.

Congratulations to this year's squad! You did a wonderful job.

Basketball queen Miss Jackie Barnes is escorted to the stage by Tom Sirgo and Cathy Sekely just after her election is announced.



Gary Wilhelm goes off the block to start his two lengths in the 200-yard medley relay at the Kent State Relays.

Ace sophomore backstroker John Leasure chopped away at the old school record in the 100-yard backstroke event until he got within 2.4 seconds of the national record.

38 Records Set As . . .

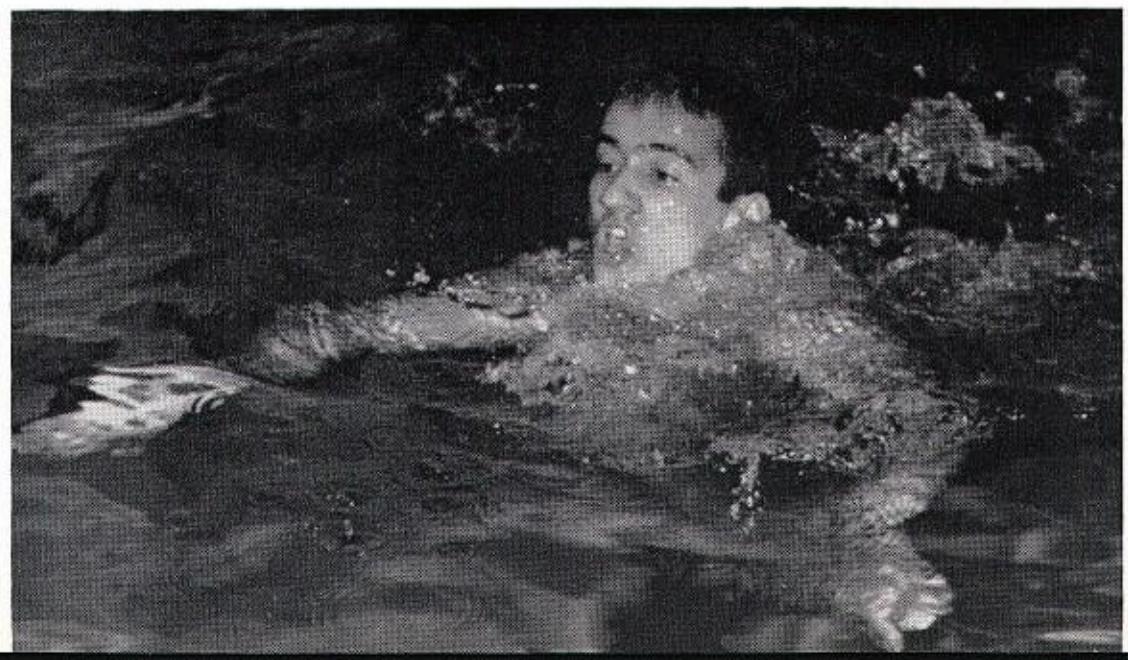
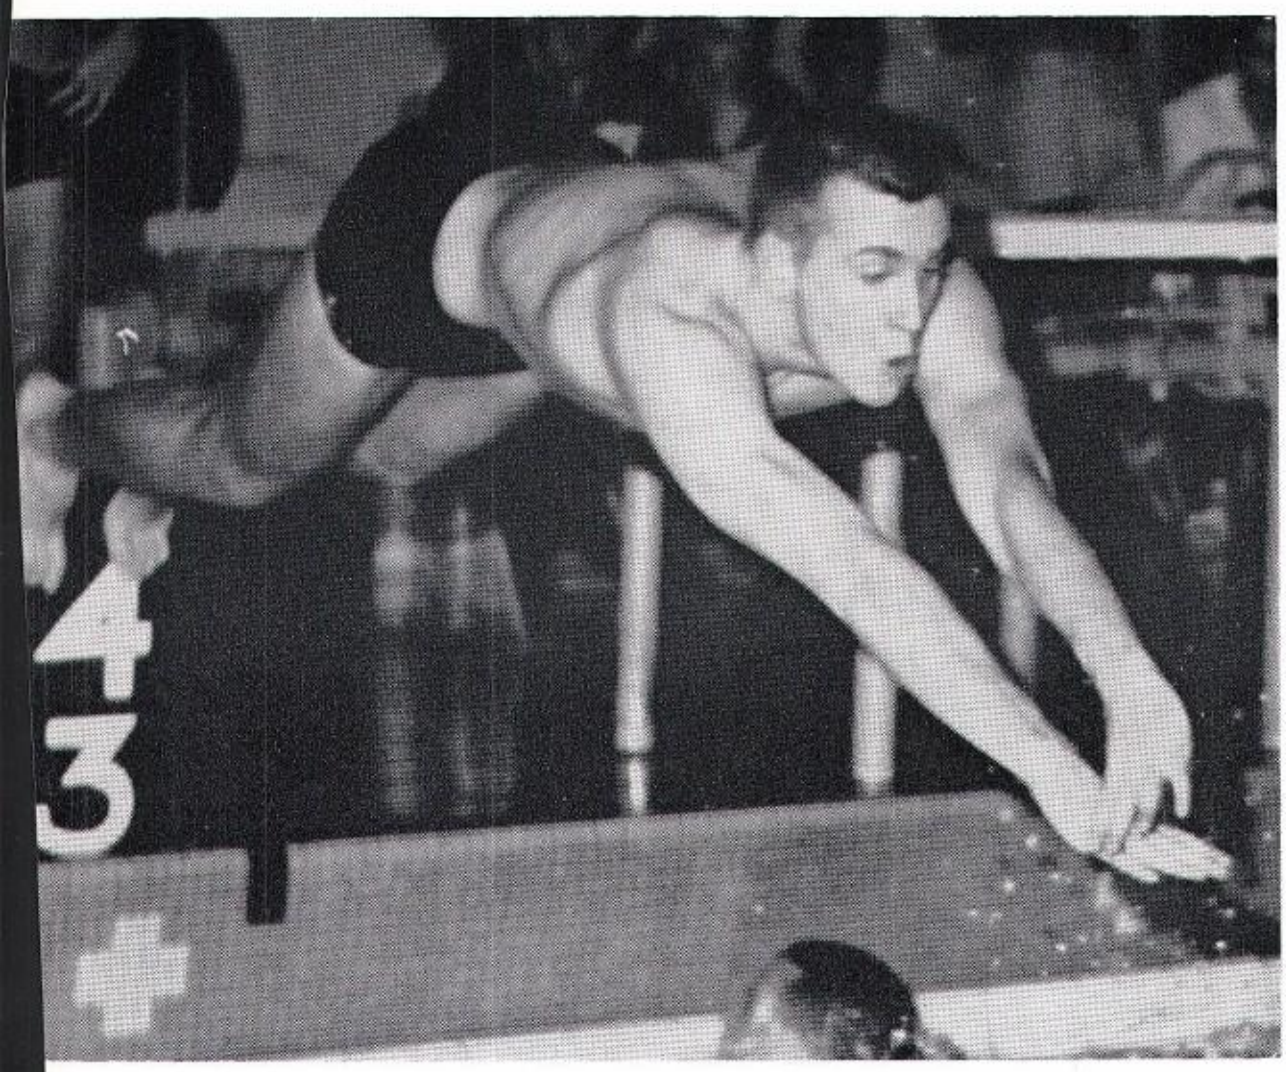
The 1961 swim team got off to a rather bad start by taking a third in the Kent Relays. They then came back to trounce Upper Arlington and Massillon. Then the ever powerful Cleveland University School snapped a winning streak which covered three years and twenty dual meets. However, the next week, in our home pool the Pups gained revenge by defeating the Preppers by a 48-38 score. The squad then went through the rest of the season in first place, taking the rest of their dual meets and the Bowling Green Relays and the District meet.

Then in the prelims to the State meet the bottom seemed to fall out as the Bulldogs took only one first place, that in diving. However, in the finals the seconds of yesterday disappeared as Spike Frederick, Bill Schubach, and John Leasure took firsts in their respective races and the freestyle relay team came through with a fabulous record-breaking first place.

Much credit must go to coaches Branin, Beatty, and Kistler and to the boys themselves for giving to McKinley its sixth straight and thirteenth State Championship title. Congratulations for a job well done and good luck to next year's squad.



One of our two reliable breaststrokers this year was Jim Zander. He is shown here pulling into the finish line at the Y.W.C.A. pool.



All-American 40 and 50 yard freestyler, Spike Frederick, flies off the starting block in a home meet at the Y.W.C.A.

Yale-Harvard

Perhaps the biggest single event in each school year next to the Prom is the Yale-Harvard game. Once each year, sometime in March the Yale Bulldogs clash head on with the Harvard Crimson in a real rock-em, sock-em basketball game in the Music Room here at school. The girls practice four nights a week for three or more weeks prior to the game which usually draws an overflowing crowd.

Tryouts are held in the girls' gym where 24 out of the approximately 75 applicants survive. These 24 are divided into two teams which then practice individually until the game when they first meet each other.

There is a banquet given in honor of the girls and awards are given out according to the number of years each has played on a Yale-Harvard team.

Practice is an essential part of any sport. Here two girls try to get the tip-off to their respective teammates.

Grapplers Move Up In State

Wrestling

Wrestling has been a sport at McKinley for only four years, yet this year's team has won statewide acclaim.

We had four outstanding boys this year who did wonderful jobs for their team and school. Dan Lindic placed third in the district meet and second in the Hiram Invitational meet. He was undefeated in dual meet competition in two years. Charlie Jackson, also undefeated in two years, was the first state champion in wrestling from McKinley. He placed third in the Hiram meet.

Ted DeWitt, a senior, placed first in the district and fourth in the state. The only junior who qualified in the state meet, Ken Robison, shows promise to lead next year's team to victory. Ken placed second in the district and third in the Hiram meet.

As a team, McKinley was third in the district and eleventh out of 179 in the state.

Lettermen returning next year are Robison and Dick Seymour. Along with the reserve strength, next year's squad shows promise.

Spring Track

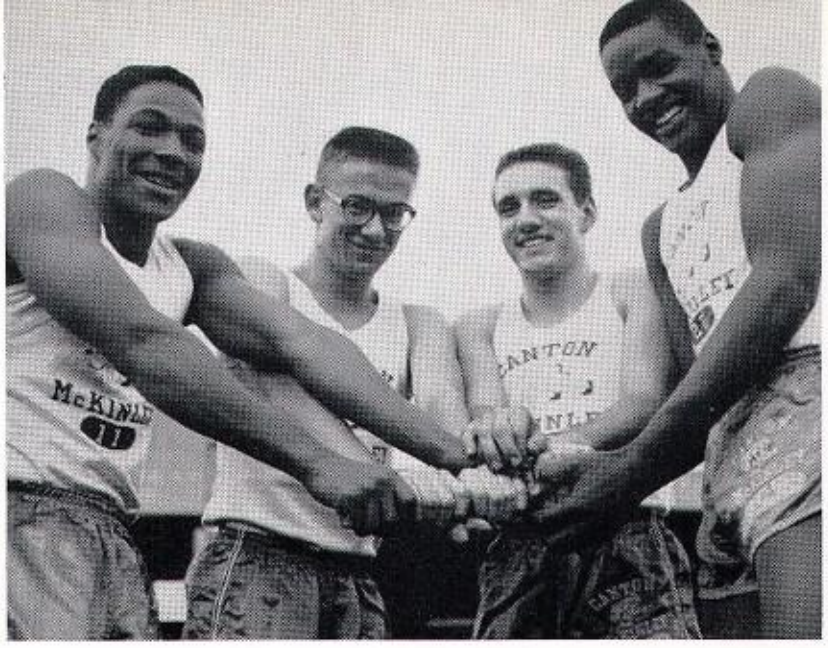
Last year the McKinley Spring Track team won the North Eastern Ohio District meet for the first time in thirteen years. The N. E. O. District is the largest in the state with forty-two teams competing.

Captains on this year's squad were George R. Smith who showed excellent form in the hurdles, and Tyrone Barrino, an excellent dash man. Mainstays on the squad this year were: Charlie Jackson, a senior returning for his third year, Bob Rice and Jim Woolley, both seniors in the pole vault, Oscar Williams in the hurdles, and Ron Webb, a newcomer to the school, a dash man. Other seniors were Derrick Averette in the distance run, and Jim Walton and Fred Thompson in the middle distance, along with Joel Hempel who came up well in the shot put.

Lou Harris, a junior, was outstanding in hurling the discus, while sophomores Bill Turowsky, Ray Johnson, and Jim Patterson filled out the dash events.

The McKinley track team had a new advantage this year in a brand-new, eight-lane, black-topped track. It is the biggest, newest, finest, outdoor, high school track in the state. Another new innovation this year was an annual triangular meet with Massillon and Warren.



Four of McKinley's track men combine to form a winning team.

The 1961 McKinley Track Queen, Velma Croston, was chosen by her fellow classmates to represent the school and track squad.

Members of the Junior Rifle Club take part in the Stark County League as well as in postal matches with clubs all over the country. The club is able to win trophies, by participation in the Hastings Match. The club advisors were Mr. Riffle and Mr. McBride.

Golf Team

The golf team at McKinley is composed of those boys interested in playing the game.
They compete with other schools and play much in their spare time. All who play the game enjoy it.

LEARNING FOR LIVING

. . . Through Academics

The relationship which exists between student and teacher is a valuable one in our education. We adjust to each teacher's method of class conduction, somewhat similar to the adjustment we will be making to life's associates. Every student has been favorably impressed with some teacher throughout these four years . . . perhaps even to the degree of idolizing him. This then presents a pattern for us in life.

Most students specialize in one of the following cirriculums offered at McKinley: Classical, technical, Industrial Arts, Commercial or Home Economics.

Assistant JO ANN ARBAUGH

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Guidance From Administrators

The function of the Board of Education is to know, interpret, and provide for the needs of the schools under their jurisdiction. In addition, board members provide the lay leadership in securing the finest educational program for the youth in their community. The policies which are practicable today must be flexible enough to meet changes occurring in educational growth. Because of the constant and diligent work of these people and a sound program, a good educational experience has been assured. We are encouraged to use knowledge and develop a sense of values which will enable us to put forth our best efforts as desirable adult citizens.

For A Fine Educational Program

The principals are mediators between faculty, parents, students, and other administrative segments of the school system and are responsible for student conduct. They have a challenging job which requires a sound background of education and experience. As friends to all, they have acquired the admiration and respect of all who work with them. They have co-ordinated the system of school activities with the zest and enthusiasm as only those who love their job and responsibilities can.

Selecting a college is a big task for seniors. Mr. Rannigan, the senior boys' advisor, and Spike Frederick have a man to man talk concerning Spike's future.

Guidance Counselors

Through guidance, every high school student becomes more aware of the importance of learning for living. The guidance counselor helps the student in his physical and mental development and in his adjustment to his social environment. Whether the student is preparing for a job or for higher education, learning can be a stepping stone to a happy and successful future. Counselors try to help students learn more about themselves — their interests, abilities, and achievements, and the importance of these qualities in making plans for high school and the years ahead.

Mathematics Promotes Logical Thinking

Plane Geometry is a challenging subject for sophomores. Debbie Eakin puts the finishing touches on a triangle she has constructed.

One of the fastest growing and most radically changing of all the sciences today is mathematics. All the major theories of two thousand years ago are still valid in this field of learning, but never before has there been so many fresh ideas. The number of mathematicians has doubled in the last ten years, and there is an increase in the enrollments in advanced mathematics courses. The demands for mathematicians have been created by industry and government, for knowledge of mathematics means a better job and better living.

An excellent addition to our high school this year was the language laboratory. Its purpose is to aid students in pronunciation through hearing themselves repeat after the voice on the tape. Here, Mrs. Khourey gives directions on how to work the machine to Jo Ann Arbaugh.

Language Erases Social Barriers

The reading champion of the year was Jacob Snyder, a junior, who achieved the rate of 3,500 word per minute with ninety per-cent comprehension.

"Language is the tool of thought and its mirror." It is paramount to social existence, as has been proved by the advances in science, industry, and human understanding which it has made possible. Today it is evident that more than ever men need avenues of instantaneous communication to surmount the national, racial, social, and economic barriers plaguing our civilization.

The study of languages affords these avenues by teaching students to think, reflect, and express their own ideas, thereby promoting mental, spiritual, and physical growth and development. This growth and development should culminate in them an unbiased understanding and appreciation of other people.

Thus the tool of language weaves a universal fabric that binds us together and provides the means of establishing peace and harmony between nations.

Science Opens New Horizons

There is always something exciting besides educational in giving a demostration in physics as shown by Bill Netta, Fred Thompson, and Don Seaman.

We are truly living in an "Age of Science." Everyday startling advances are being made in such fields as bacteriology, medicine, chemistry, and nuclear-physics. Each of these advances contributes to the opening of new horizons and helps answer more of the questions concerning the world and universe in which we live. Even more important, through the sciences we can live longer and better lives.

Fear of the unknown, superstition and mysticism disappear as our knowledge of science grows. As students become a part of this scientific age, they will make their own contributions toward an even more wonderful world in which to live.

Today, more than ever before, science is a dynamic and vital force in our everyday lives. All aspects of science, from the amazing achievements in nuclear energy to the less spectacular, but no less important, advances in transportation, directly affect the lives of everyone in the world today.

Social Science—Our Role In The World

A vital course in the Social Science curriculum is American History. Mrs. Malone uses a map of the territorial divisions to show the Missouri Compromise line to her class.

In a world in which change is a characterizing symbol, human relationships can vary and swiftly be disturbed. If one is unaware of the pace and spirit of the times he is easily swayed by gusts of propaganda, waves of sentiment, tides of circumstance, and may awake to discover that he has contributed to a great disaster. The purpose of social studies is to equip the student with knowledge of the past and present and to help him gain insight into the future so that he may make an intelligent contribution to the continuing process of human history.

By studying this history of human progress and the laws of our society, the individual may realize his own role in our world, and may meet this challenge with courage and understanding.

A rare but welcome sight to the commercial classes is a young man such as Tim Loehr who has chosen Business Education as his course of study.

Business Education

The goal of the business education department is to prepare students to begin business employment upon their graduation. There has always been a demand for business administrators in the fields of salesmanship, store service, business organization, economics, and distributive jobs.

Office proprietors generally feel that office personnel, such as stenographers and bookkeepers, require a certain amount of school preparation in specialized techniques before beginning regular employment. The commercial field has great opportunities for those who are interested in this life of endeavor. The rising need for trained administrators is encouraging more students to follow this course in high school and to continue with advanced work in business school or in college courses.

Home Economics

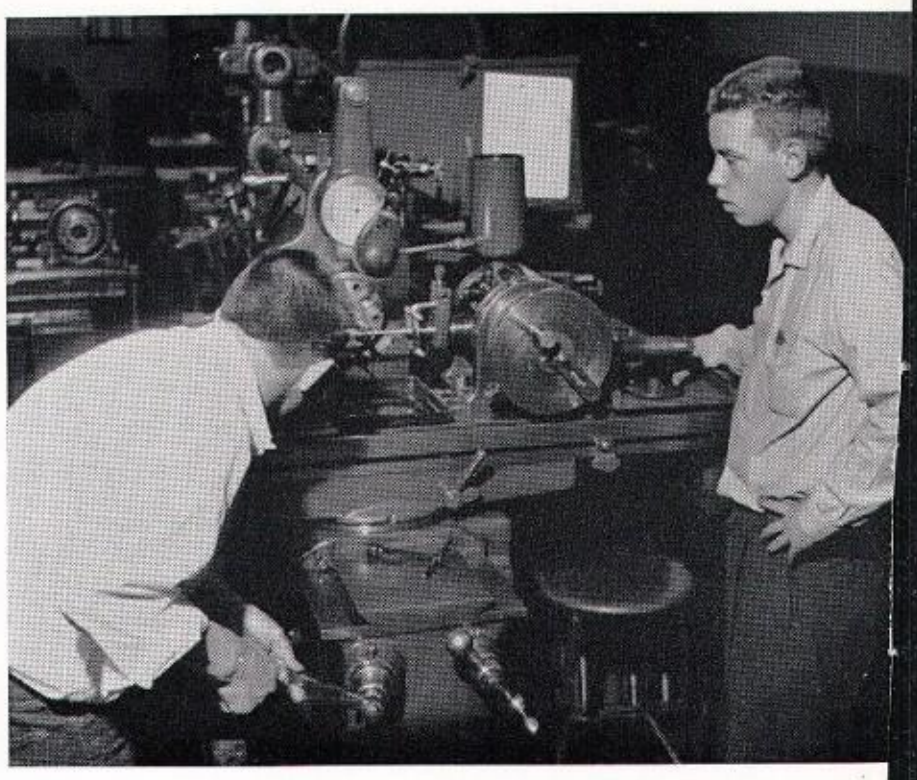
Home Economics courses strive to stimulate a desire for high ideals in the American home.

Whereas "home management" once meant only household hygiene, cleaning, and budgeting, it now includes labor-saving routine and orderly arrangement. An effort is made to develop in each girl an appreciation of her importance as a future homemaker together with skills in food preparation, child care, clothing construction, and managerial ability.

Students of the Home Economics course become aware of the vast opportunities in connection with study and research in textiles and food processing. The result has been the development of better homes, happier families, and a better world in which to live.

Architectural drawing students, John Bailey, Charles Buzille, and Dave Hunter, view with interest the structure of the proposed Football Hall of Fame at the Canton Junior Chamber of Commerce Decade of Progress exhibition.



The complex mechanism of the printing press is well under the control of Scott Fryberger and John Bailey.

Industrial Arts Aids Technology

No other single factor has aided our country's economic development more than has the technical and industrial fields. People working in these fields must be imaginative, creative, progressive, and inquisitive.

By designing, planning and building with the tools of industry, students are able to develop these qualities through the Industrial Arts program.

The fields of graphic arts, electricity, woodworking, machine shop, metal working, and drafting are among the areas which these students study in their training. In teaching these areas, the instructor attempts to prepare them for technical vocations in their future lives.

Leaders who are being developed in this field must grow as our society becomes more complex. Through the experiences which they will acquire through the program of industrial arts, these students and future leaders will impower us to hold an advanced position in our civilization and will enable our society to have many products and services which it will need.

Art Illustrates Manner Of Thinking

Since the dawn of history art has illustrated our way of living and has expressed our manner of thinking and philosophy of life.

Early man in his search for tools to cook, eat, build his home and defend himself, developed the most unusual instruments. As his mind developed, he realized that his instruments were crude and in his search for better ones, he developed them to be more pleasing to his sight.

Before long, his usefulness of aesthetic design was not only for necessity, but also for enjoyment of the "better things in life." His philosophy of life now included not only what worked well, but what looked good. He began to notice nature, and he liked some things better than others, simply because they appealed to the sense he had developed. This became evident in his dress, home, social life and worship.

Production Of Music For Enjoyment

The beginning of music goes back to the beginning of the human race, and in early days it was entirely emotional. It has been suggested that the earliest music was made to imitate the sounds of nature, such as the washing of waves and the sighing of winds. The earliest man had his simple musical instrument. Those found, indicate that it was crude flute made of reed or the horn of some animal. Down through the years has come the question of the effect of music on the individual. How does it affect the morals and character of people? Everyone knows that pure pleasure is derived from music, and the actual enjoyment is a relief from fatigue. It provides a safe and fine profitable use of leisure time, which in the modern day is becoming increasingly important. Music is and will become a more important element in the life of the individual and the community, and provisions are being made for its cultivation on a larger scale than ever before. Therefore, the place of music in the curriculum of the school is yearly assuming more importance and is no longer considered supplementary education.

Physical Education Promotes Health

An important objective of physical education is to increase muscle strength, heart power, or stamina with an increasing ability to resist fatigue. Sound bodies, stout hearts, along with alert minds are needed to meet the demands of our present society. We must be healthy in order to maintain the necessary energy for our chosen vocation. With the increasing trend toward outdoor living, a well planned program of physical education provides a wide variety of activities which help develop youth for a full, prosperous adulthood.

An enjoyment of swimming class is when the girls get together to practice synchronized swimming.

LEARNING FOR LIVING

. . . With Our Classmates

"So long a communion tends to make us what we are." In the words of poet, Lord Byron, we realize that the closeness of students in high school provides the individual with his personality and character traits. Without friendship, school would be very routine and monotonus.

Soon we will move into a change of social conditions, having experienced the association of various backgrounds of our classmates.

Assignment often requires the help or co-operation of others. In this manner, we learn to work and get along with other people, an important element in society.

The senior year of school is by far the fullest. It is during these nine months that the graduates-to-be plan their futures and live the present with anticipation.

The events previous to June Graduation are, in themselves, symbolic of the happiness of the twelfth grade. Everyday happenings and assemblies are frequented for the last time this year. Then, that final Prom night and all the pomp and ceremony of graduation.

Looking back, they view many accomplishments and friendships. Those who were officers of classes and clubs. Achievement of Honor Roll and perhaps National Honor.

Some wish these moments to return, others are glad to have them in the past. In whatever manner we hold these memories, they will remain part of us.

At the left are pictured the four seniors that were elected by their fellow classmates to serve them during their senior year. They are Nick Nonno, president; Jim Woolley, vice-president; Cathy Sekely, secretary; and Jim Zander, treasurer.
Appearing throughout the senior section are a number of seniors who were recognized by their classmates for their leadership in activities, sports, and services to the school.

Have Determination To Uphold McKinley's High Standards

We have shown great potential for leadership, reliability, and achievement. We took a giant step from grade school and encountered many strange and wonderful things. Officers were Melvin Cherry, president; Shirley Anders, vice-president; Joan Isabelle, secretary; and Olivia Brothers, treasurer.

This year business and industry in Canton paused to recognize the accomplishments of a profitable and progressive decade. Without these many patrons the 1961 "McKinleyite" would not be a reality; — without their healthy stimuli to Canton's economy, the city would not be All-American. These prudent citizens have seen fit to help build a treasury for our youthful mementoes. For this reason, if no other, we submit their wares and services to you as the best available!

PORTRAITS, FACULTY

We learn through living; these people have helped us collect the learning pictured in this book.

Our sincere thanks to our advisors, (editorial) Mr. F. E. Hazard and (business) Mrs. Faye Gaylor. New to advising an annual staff, they proved to be "Outstanding Rookies of the Year"!
